JAMES I. WALLER, CHIEF

Honorable Marshall C. Kurfees, Mayor
City of Winston-Salem
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Dear Mayor Kurfees:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I submit this report describing and detailing the operations of the Winston-Salem Police Department for the year of 1958. I believe you will find this material to be interesting and representative of our operations.

During the past year it was a real pleasure for all of us in the Winston-Salem Police Department to work with you, members of the Board of Aldermen and Mr. Gold. We look forward to a continuation of our fine relationships and it is our sincere desire to render a better public service to our citizens in 1959.

Sincerely,

CHIEF'S MESSAGE

A Police Department is a service organization dedicated to the task of making its city a better and safer place in which to live. It is the front door of a community and must be the municipal administration's diplomatic corps.

Law Enforcement is dependent upon the cooperation of the individual citizen. Acting through his elected representatives the citizen patterns the organization, sets its standards, passes on its effectiveness and pays its cost. Largely by his political ethics, the citizen determines the ethics of the police. By his recognition of the principles of administration and management, he sets working conditions which attract the quality of personnel desired. Safety and order in the community is a partnership of a type which can exist only in a working democracy.

Our city is no exception to this rule. Winston-Salem has, and will always have, the quality of police service it collectively desires. It can be no better than that and it can be no worse.

We in the Police Department want to express our appreciation to citizens of our community for your support and cooperation in 1958. It is our sincere hope that our work in 1959 will continue to merit the approbation, confidence, assistance and support of all our people.

In 1958 the Police Department continued to be under-manned. Money was appropriated for additional personnel. However, the compensation which we could offer was not sufficient to fill existing vacant positions and at the same time maintain the high standards required for effectively affording protection to the lives and property of our citizens.

During 1958 we saw many major changes in our traffic patterns. The western half of the Interstate Expressway was opened in January, 1958, and carried an average in excess of 19,000 vehicles daily. In the middle of the year the Salem By-Pass was opened to the public and this facility has expedited the movement of traffic around Old Salem. Toward the end of the year the Peters Creek Parkway became a reality and made available a high speed connector between the southern and western sectors of the city. Other major street improvements were made in an effort to cope with the ever-increasing problem created by an all-time high in motor vehicle registration.

City officials and others are to be complimented for their aggressiveness and vision in seeking means to eliminate traffic congestion from our streets. In 1958 work was commenced on the Cherry-Marshall Streets project - a high speed facility which should be of great benefit to the northern sector of our city. Also, work on the eastern half of the Interstate Expressway was started and it is hoped this important artery will be completed in 1959. In addition, a great deal of work has gone into the early stages of the North-South Expressway - another high-speed artery designed to eliminate traffic congestion. While all of these - in the aggregated - do not constitute a panacea to our traffic problems, it can certainly be said that determined efforts are being made to cope with these problems.

In 1958 the number of offenses reported to the police in the seven major categories rose to 2252 as contrasted with 2146 offenses in 1957. This represents an increase of 106 offenses numerically and a percentage increase of 4.75. It is interesting to note that in 1958 a total of 307 aggravated assault cases were reported - an increase of 106 over the preceding year. The percentage increase locally compares favorably with the nation-wide increase - in cases reported to the police - which is in excess of 8%.

The Fire-Police Patrol - commenced on an experimental basis in September, 1957 - has been continued on a permanent basis. The city's plan for Fire-Police cooperation has provided the public with fire and police protection at a lower cost than does the conventional type of protection. As the year ended, plans were going forward to expand the Fire-Police Patrol in other areas of the city.

In 1958 personnel of the Police Department continued to be extremely concerned and interested in youth activities. For example, three officers of the Department act as Commissioners of the Northwest Midget Football League and others in the Department give of their time and efforts in Boys Club work. Others served in other capacities.

During 1958 the Winston-Salem Municipal Court was recognized by the National Safety Council for its high caliber of performance. This in itself is a signal honor for our city and community.

It should be pointed out that there can be no tangible police profit and loss statement similar to that found in private industry. When the citizen invests a portion of his tax dollar in the Winston-Salem Police Department, he is purchasing a variety of helpful services as well as continuous protection from the criminal element. Although he may never have an occasion to call upon the police for assistance, the citizen receives an intrinsic return on his investment in the Department. The police dividend, received by the citizens of Winston-Salem, is that form of freedom found in an orderly community in which normal and productive living may flourish without constant fear of criminal attack. Indeed, freedom is a highly intangible thing, difficult to evaluate in terms of dollars and cents. Like the military defends our way of life from foreign oppressors, the police service protects the citizen from those internal forces which would prey upon society from within. In both cases a commercial return for the tax dollar similar to that found in private enterprise defies both definition and measurement.

THE POLICE DOLLAR

Although Americans can be liberal or even extravagant with their own money, they expect to get a dollar's worth of service for each tax dollar spent. The Winston-Salem Police Department realizes its obligation in this respect and feels that it has fulfilled its responsibility in spending wisely the funds allocated to it.

Police protection in the City of Winston-Salem cost each person less than 3 cents per day. This sum purchases a trained protective force far superior to the funds expended for its operation. Every budget item is carefully scrutinized to provide maximum service at the least possible cost.

CODE OF ETHICS

1. Policemen shall be habitually courteous; they shall recognize their responsibilities as public servants and shall be particularly attentive to citizens seeking assistance or information or who desire to register complaints or give evidence.
2. They shall accept their responsibility to the public by being punctual in their engagements and expeditious in the performance of their duties.
3. They shall regard their office as a public trust and in the discharge of their duties be constantly mindful of their primary obligation to serve the public, efficiently and effectively.
4. They shall administer the law in a just, impartial and reasonable manner; and shall not accord to some more reasonable treatment than to others. They shall recognize the limitations of their authority and at no time use the power of their office for their own personal advantage.
5. They shall be true to their obligation as custodians of public property and shall bear in mind that the misuse and waste of public property is equally as reprehensible as the misuse or waste of money from the public treasury.
6. They shall not limit their effectiveness in the administration of their office by accepting gratuities or favors from citizens or corporations with whom they may have official dealings.
7. They shall cooperate fully with all other public officials to the end that the safety and general welfare of the public will be assured. They shall not permit jealousies or personal differences to influence their cooperation with other agencies.
8. They shall add to their effectiveness by diligent study and sincere attention to self-improvement. They shall welcome an opportunity to disseminate practical and useful information relating to matters of the public's safety and welfare.
9. They shall so conduct their public and private life that the public will regard them as examples of stability, fidelity and morality.
10. They shall bear faithful allegiance to their government, and be loyal to their profession. They shall accept as a sacred obligation their responsibility as citizens to support the Constitution of the United States; and as public officials they shall consider the privilege of defending the principles of liberty as defined in our Constitution and laws, the greatest honor that may be bestowed upon any man.

Police service is an art dedicated to the safety and protection of mankind. It is a calling devoted to service to the public. In this obligatory undertaking, enforcement officers are constantly involved in problems of ethical import. As public servants policemen are bound to serve the public impartially and efficiently and their service must be extended to all peoples regardless of their social status. A basic responsibility of American government is to assure the people that their police service will be of a professional quality.

Versatility is necessary to success in police service. More professional techniques are involved in modern police service than in any other field of endeavor. Policemen are challenged at every turn to render skilled services to the public. In a routine day a policeman may have to render first aid to an injured motorist, deliver a safety address, trail and apprehend a dangerous criminal, assist in the prosecution of a criminal case, or convince a runaway boy of the error of his ways. These and many more are services that the public confidently expect of policemen. Ideally, policemen should have some of the knowledges of the lawyer, doctor, and the engineer; they must possess the endurance of an athlete, have the insight of the sociologist, and the compassion and understanding of a minister. In short they must present resolute and dynamic personalities particularly characterized by magnanimity.

PHYSICAL TRAINING

Society must require and make provision for a professionally trained police personnel who are fit not only in body, but particularly in character, education and ideals of service.

Your department is constantly striving to provide for the new and veteran officer ample opportunity for training. It is our sincere desire that during this year we will be able to start the construction of a training center. This center so designed and managed that our citizenry may point with pride with the end results. A well trained officer who is able to adapt himself to any situation and whose point of view has been so humanized by his education that he will be a good person in any job or calling.

On January 1, 1959 a group of ten men reported to the Police Academy for recruit training. Two of these men were firemen, three deputy sheriffs and five police officers.
